Mission Statement

The Department of Music at The College of New Jersey promotes music study in a program where performance, music education, technology, creativity and scholarship are closely integrated. Our core curriculum emphasizes comprehensive performance opportunities, rigorous academic inquiry, and professional certification. Our programs offer a range of music curricula, including individualized and innovative interdisciplinary options.

Background of the Department

The Department of Music has been a center for the study of music since 1916. Its graduates not only enjoy an excellent placement record for employment and graduate school, but they also consistently attain leadership positions in the varied fields of musical endeavor. The College of New Jersey is an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music. The department offers various programs of musical study which are consistent with the high standards, ideals, and philosophy of this organization.

The Department of Music, with its large roster of artist teachers, offers all types of musical ensemble experience, excellent equipment, and library holdings. In addition, its varied curricula provide a wide selection of courses designed as professional preparation for work in a variety of music careers. The College has a state-of-the-art music building that serves as the primary facility for concerts and recitals. This building contains the 300+ seat Mildred and Ernest E. Mayo Concert Hall, critically acclaimed for its aesthetic and acoustical properties, as well as instrumental and choral rehearsal halls, computer synthesizer and keyboard laboratories, numerous classrooms, small ensemble suites, and practice rooms.

Music does not exist in a vacuum, nor does the musician. In order to ensure a well-rounded preparation and to enrich the comprehensive awareness of the musician, provisions are built into the programs for the music major to devote study to the liberal arts.

Requirements for All Music Majors:

Since the music faculty believes that two of the most vital aspects in the growth of any musician are the listening to and performing of music, various minimum requirements have been established to ensure that all music majors are exposed to these opportunities for growth. A partial outline of requirements follows; a student handbook containing detailed information is available to all students through the Department of Music's webpage or by contacting the music office.

1. All students must audition on campus for entrance into the music program and when requesting a change in major applied area.
2. All music majors must pass the required Sophomore Review.
3. All music education and performance students must present a senior recital in their major performance area. Before beginning to prepare for the Senior Recital, all students must pass a Junior Hearing in front of their applied area faculty.

Students must register for applied study and the recital course during the semester of their recital performance.

4. Every recital presented must have a recital hearing one month before the event. Only the successful completion of the hearing will ensure a recital performance.
5. All music majors must pass a keyboard proficiency exam as a requirement for graduation. Music education students must pass the keyboard proficiency exam in January of their junior year to be eligible to student teach in the fall semester of their senior year, and at the end of the spring semester in their junior year to be eligible to student teach in the spring semester of their senior year.
6. Upon the recommendation of the major applied instructor, the student will perform in the student recital series each year.
7. All performance and music education students must enroll in a large ensemble each semester in which they are registered as full-time students and successfully complete the course with a grade of C- or higher. This requirement is waived only during the semester in which a music education student is student teaching. Part-time students (those taking fewer than three course units of study per semester) must petition the Academic/Performance Affairs Committee for a special exemption from primary ensemble participation on a semester-by-semester basis.

Private Lessons

Music majors will be provided with no more than nine semesters of private applied lessons during their course of study at the College. Lessons beyond nine semesters will be fee-based. All students taking private applied lessons must complete a Performance Jury for each semester of enrollment in order to receive credit for the course.

Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for music programs:

1. Retention in music programs is based on the following standards in these content areas:
 - a. Applied Study. Students must achieve a grade of B- or above in all Private Applied Lessons in their major applied area.
 - b. Teacher Preparation. Music Education majors must achieve a grade of C+ or above in the following teacher preparation courses: MUS 241, MUS 392, MUS 394, MUS 397/398, and MUS 492. Music education majors must also achieve minimum passing grade of B- in MUS 490, Student Teaching.
 - c. All other Music Courses. The grade of C- is the minimum passing grade for all other courses taken toward programs in music.
2. Additionally, retention in the B.A. in Music and B.M. in Performance programs requires a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 for every semester. Retention in the B.M. in Music Education requires a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 at the end of the first and second semesters, 2.75 at the end of the fourth semester, and 3.0 when applying for and participating in student teaching.
3. Transfer into the program from another program within the College is based upon satisfactory completion of an audition.

4. Music majors may be put on probation and/or dismissed from the degree program for any one, or a combination, of the following reasons: low GPA (below required standards), failure to progress toward a degree, failure to progress on their applied instrument, and unacceptable or failing result on the Sophomore Review. Students who have been placed on probation for a low GPA, for which it is mathematically impossible to achieve the minimum required GPA by the end of the probation semester, are subject to immediate dismissal under the “failure to progress” rationale. Similarly, students for whom a low GPA at the end of the semester prior to the sophomore review semester is so low that the required minimum GPA is not mathematically attainable by the time of the review are also subject to immediate dismissal from the music program.
5. Music majors may be placed on departmental probation once. A second occurrence will result in dismissal from the degree program. After dismissal, students must wait one year before applying for re-admission. The process for appealing dismissal from the degree program is detailed in the Music Student Handbook, available on the Music Department website.
5. All Department of Music policies and procedures are detailed in the Music Student Handbook, available on the department website.
6. Students are eligible to apply to transfer between Music programs before completing six semesters of study at the College. In order to enroll in any capstone course, students must be in the associated program for a minimum of two semesters.

Bachelor of Arts: Music

The Bachelor of Arts in Music degree (B.A. in Music) includes a core of intensive music study: Musicianship (music theory and aural skills), Historical and Cultural Studies in Music, and an array of Music Electives (including applied instrumental/vocal studio, large and small ensemble performance, Music Technology). At the same time, the B.A. degree emphasizes the study of music in the context of TCNJ’s competitive Liberal Arts experience. In addition to fulfilling the Liberal Learning requirements for all TCNJ students, B.A. in Music students plan a course of Free Electives and are mentored to pursue interdisciplinary academic and creative perspectives on music. Secondary majors, minors, and/or concentrations are also possible, and encouraged, as is study abroad. Ultimately, the B.A. in Music degree prepares students for a diverse range of careers depending on their individualized courses of study. Applicants for the B.A. in Music degree must demonstrate that they possess the skills to participate successfully in a curricular ensemble or in an applied studio as determined through an audition with the applicable area coordinator and ensemble director.

The precise sequence of courses will be determined through individualized advisement.

Bachelor of Music: Music Education

The Bachelor of Music in Music Education prepares students to be certified public school teachers. There are three tracks in this degree: Instrumental (Wind, Strings, and Percussion), Keyboard, and Vocal (Keyboard, Guitar and Harp have either a vocal or instrumental emphasis in determining large ensemble requirements). Successful completion of the degree qualifies students to sit for the Praxis examination prior to student teaching. Graduates of this program also qualify for certification in other states, subject to the individual processes of each state. The Bachelor of Music in Music Education degree is constructed on a solid core of performance experiences and, as such, also prepares students for graduate study. Certification qualifies students to teach instrumental and choral classes K-12 in the NJ Public Schools.

Teacher Preparation Requirements

- 1) A cumulative grade point average (GPA) of at least 3.0 is required for students to successfully complete the music teacher education program and be recommended for certification and licensure. To help assure that students at The College of New Jersey meet this requirement by graduation, the following procedures will be strictly followed:
 - (a) Admission to full candidacy (junior level courses and above) in the Music Education program may be awarded following the successful completion of the Sophomore Review, the Keyboard Proficiency and a 2.75 minimum GPA. Students with a GPA below 2.75 at the end of their fourth semester will be placed on Academic Probation and will not be permitted to continue with teacher education courses until the GPA is raised to 2.75.
 - (b) Admission to upper-level courses, MUS 392 and MUS 397/398 requires a 2.75 minimum GPA. In addition, admission to MUS 397/398 requires successful completion of MUS 340 or 380. When applying for, and participating in student teaching, a student must have successfully completed MUS 330, MUS 452 and attained a 3.0 minimum GPA. In order to apply for state teaching certification through The College of New Jersey, students must have a 3.0 GPA at the time of program completion.
- 2) Students also must meet the state hygiene/physiology requirement, the state Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying Prevention (HIB) training certificate requirement, and pass the appropriate PRAXIS examination before the New Jersey State Department of Education will issue the appropriate certificate. Teacher-Education candidates will receive a “certificate of eligibility with advanced standing” which requires a candidate to be provisionally certified for his or her first year of teaching. After one year of successful teaching, the candidate is eligible for a permanent certificate.
- 3) A Mantoux, or tuberculosis test, is required by the state of all students prior to the first day of student teaching. This test can be obtained through The College of New Jersey Health Center.
- 4) Because of the number of concentration specializations that can be pursued in this major, only the core courses of a student’s program of study are set out below. Students should consult with their departmental advisors as well as the department’s Undergraduate Music Student Handbook in planning the remainder of their academic program. These plans should take into account requirements for the major, liberal learning, professional courses, and state certification.
- 5) All Music Education students are required to take SPE 203 or ELE 203 in order to meet requirements of the New Jersey State Department of Education.
