The Women’s and Gender Studies major is interdisciplinary, offering over 90 courses in 15 programs and departments. Women’s and Gender Studies courses enable students to understand changing social patterns and the effects of institutions and culture on behavior. Courses explore how gender shapes social roles and identities as well as the function of race, class, and sexuality in the experience of gender within and across cultures. The major prepares students for a variety of professional and graduate schools as well as positions in corporations, government agencies, and service industries.

Online information about the Women’s and Gender Studies major, minor, concentration, and course offerings can be found at http://wgs.pages.tcnj.edu/.
