

Educational Administration and Secondary Education

Faculty: Gosselin, Chair: Bellino, Connolly, Davis, Girard, Gordon, Leake, Mayger, Palmer

The Department of Educational Administration and Secondary Education provides a sequence of undergraduate courses and experiences that support the preparation of students matriculated in secondary education track programs in biology, chemistry, physics, Spanish, mathematics, social studies (through either the history or the economics major), and English. Department courses and programs are guided by the Conceptual Framework of The School of Education, the New Jersey Administrative Code and State Standards, and national accrediting organizations.

- Students must earn a grade of B- or better in SED 224, EFN 299, SPE103.
- Students must have a minimum GPA of 3.0 to enroll in SED 399.
- Students must have earned a grade of “B-” or better in SED 399 and their content area methods course (xxx390) and have an overall GPA of 3.0 to enroll in student teaching.
- Students must earn a minimum grade of B- in SED 498 to meet program requirements.

Secondary Teacher Education Program

An overview of the entire secondary-level teacher preparation sequence can be found below.

During the first and second year:

SED 099/College Seminar	0 course unit
SED 224/Adolescent Learning and Development	1 course unit
EFN 299/Schools, Communities and Culture	1 course unit

SPE 103/Social and Legal Foundations of Special Education 1 course unit
(Prerequisite SED 224 or EFN 299; Recommended Spring Sophomore/Fall Junior)

Either second semester of third year or first semester of fourth as a three-course block:

SED 399/Pedagogy in Secondary Schools	1.5 course unit
XXX 390/A discipline-specific methods course	1 course unit*
RAI 328/ Reading in Secondary Education	.5 course unit

Students majoring in English or in mathematics will take a second discipline-specific methods course in a different semester prior to beginning their student teaching. This will be EED 400 or MTT 380 respectively.*

Either semester of the fourth year as a three-course-unit block, but be taken in semester immediately following the prior 3 course block:

XXX 490/ Student Teaching	2 course units
SED 498/Collaborative Capstone for Professional Inquiry	1 course unit