

Journalism and Professional Writing

Faculty: Kathleen Webber (coordinator), Kim Pearson

Beginning in Fall 2024, the Journalism and Writing (JPW) program will reside in the department of Communication, Journalism, and Film. The Journalism and Professional Writing curriculum provides intensive study in news and feature writing and editing, as well as corequisite training in ethics, media law, and multimedia/digital skills. JPW also offers separate minors in Journalism, Professional Writing, and Broadcast and Multimedia Journalism. Any of these programs can be meaningfully combined with majors or minors in fields including communication studies, interactive multimedia, history, international studies, psychology, and marketing, among others.

The Journalism and Professional Writing major is interdisciplinary, so it offers a broad range of courses not only in writing but in other areas of study, allowing students to design programs appropriate to their goals and interests. JPW is excellent preparation for careers in journalism, professional writing, editing, publishing, communications, public relations, marketing, social media, law, management, or any other occupation that requires superior written and oral communication skills. It also provides strong preparation for graduate and professional schools; many of our students go on to advanced study at universities across the country.

JPW Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for Journalism and Professional Writing. Minimum grades are noted in parentheses.

- Retention in the JPW major is based on the following performance standards in one “critical content” course: JPW 208/Introduction to Journalism (C).
- Students in good academic standing, newly matriculated and first-term students without a GPA who wish to transfer into Journalism and Professional Writing from another program within the College, or to add JPW as a second major, are invited to submit a Change of Major form by the deadlines stated on the academic calendar. If JPW does not have capacity for all applicants, the applications will be considered competitively.
- Graduation requirements: all JPW and (C-).

Adding or Removing a Minor

JPW is a program with three individual minors: Journalism, Professional Writing, and Broadcast and Multimedia Journalism. Fill out the required form and have it signed by the coordinator. Then submit your signed form to Records & Registration.

All minors must be declared at least ONE semester prior to graduation.

Only ONE course unit, either required or elective, may be used to satisfy requirements for both a major field and a minor field.

To remove a minor, use the same form and procedure, but note that you would like to remove the minor.

Transfer Credit

Each student is required to complete at least six of the thirteen courses for the JPW degree at the College. The 13th course is one that is outside JPW offerings.

Journalism and Professional Writing Learning Goals

Upon completion of their program of study, JPW majors will be able to:

1. Research, write, edit and create material of entry-level professional quality according to the practices and standards of news organizations, magazines and professional communications. These materials include news stories, features, newsletters, business documents, headlines, photo captions, photos, videos and web/digital content.
2. Demonstrate an understanding of media law and ethical conduct in journalism and professional writing, and other requirements of good journalistic practice.
3. Demonstrate an awareness of the assumptions about culture and gender implicit in choice of media, representations, and focus in journalism and professional writing.
4. Demonstrate knowledge of the history and traditions of journalism and professional writing.
5. Perform entry-level work at a professional publication or as a professional writer, as demonstrated by completion of a media experience.

Academic Advisement

Each student is responsible for following JPW advisement procedures, and is assigned an academic adviser whose name will appear in his/her PAWS account. Advisers will publicize the times when they are available for conferences, but students are responsible for taking the initiative to arrange conferences with advisers each semester during the registration period and whenever academic questions arise.

JPW faculty believe that proper advisement is vital to the academic well-being of majors. The purposes of these conferences are to assure that:

- 1) The student is taking the appropriate courses to meet the College's academic requirements;
- 2) The student is pursuing those courses best suited to his/her career goals;
- 3) The student will have a source of mature advice in handling whatever academic difficulties he/she may encounter;
- 4) Advisers maintain updated files on advisees, containing program planners, transcripts, a record of their attendance at advising sessions, and other relevant data.
