

International Studies

Faculty: Adair, Director; Bender, Chartock, Cho, Gabriel-Stheeman, Hutton, khasawnih, Leader, Lillevik, McMann, Monseau, Shakow, Toloudis, Warner-Ault

International Studies is an interdisciplinary field of study that examines the global forces (political, historical, cultural, and societal) that shape the world in which we live. It is based on the conviction that historically informed and politically aware students with knowledge of more than one language will be able to think more critically and act more responsibly in a shrinking world. Students who successfully complete this major improve their opportunity for further study in graduate or professional school and careers in government service, private enterprise, international governmental and non-governmental organizations, non-profit education, research and advocacy organizations, and teaching.

Requirements for the Major

Twelve total course units are required for the International Studies major. Each student completes five courses as part of the major core and seven courses in an area of specialization. The courses for the specializations are drawn from across the Humanities and Social Sciences as well as the School of Business and the School of Arts and Communication. Only one course at the 100-level may be counted toward a specialization. FIN 201 and MGT 201 are half-unit courses and prerequisites for upper-level courses that students could take to fulfill their business class requirements. They do not count as fulfilling a requirement for the International Studies major. All courses that count toward the specializations must be worth at least .75 units.

The Major's Core Requirements include:

INT 200: International Studies – Processes, Themes, and Issues

ECO 102: Principles of Macroeconomics

INT 498: Senior Seminar

Two units of a Foreign Language at the 200-level or above, relevant to the chosen specialization or demonstrate proficiency through testing at the oral level

The Specialization Options include:

Diplomacy

International Trade and Economics

Global Health, Development, and Environment

Asian Studies

African Studies

Chinese Studies

European Studies

Latin American and Caribbean Studies

Middle Eastern Studies

Course requirements differ by specialization; please see below or consult the academic requirements report in PAWS. As part of the College Core requirements, it is recommended that students take microeconomics (ECO 101) and statistics (STA 115 or STA 215 for Social Science majors).

Study abroad is an important component of the major. Students are required to demonstrate at least one semester of successful academic achievement in a foreign university relevant to their field of study. A full year of study abroad is encouraged. Successful study abroad is defined as passing at least three classes for a minimum of 2.25 TCNJ units. Please consult your International Studies advisor and the Center for Global Engagement for the most suitable site and program.

Elective courses in the major must have an international focus and complement the student's area of interest within the major. Students are also encouraged to pursue an internship with an international focus.

Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for international studies:

- Retention in the program is based on the following performance standards
 - Students must complete two “critical content courses” with a grade of B or above (INT 200 International Studies: Processes, Themes, Issues, and their first 200-level language course). If a student fails to earn a B-, they may retake the course up to two times. If a student fails to earn a B- after taking a critical content course a third time, they will be dismissed from the major.

- Students must complete the semester Study Abroad requirement for the major by the end of the semester immediately preceding their last semester at the College (i.e. Fall semester of the senior year for a student graduating the following May). A student may petition the Director of International Studies to fulfill the Study Abroad requirement in their final semester at the College. If a student fails to meet the requirement by the end of their penultimate semester, they will be dismissed from the major.
- Transfer into the program from another program within the College is based upon an interview with the Director of the International Studies Program.
- Graduation requires a GPA of 2.0 in courses for the program and a minimum grade of B- in a 200-level language course and in INT 200 International Studies: Processes, Themes, Issues.

Honors in International Studies

Students who have excelled academically in the major are eligible to pursue Honors in International Studies. Honors in International Studies is awarded to eligible students who have been accepted into the program and successfully complete the required coursework and Honors Thesis (at least 50 pages in length and based on original research).

Program Description

Honors in International Studies is granted to students who, once accepted into the program, meet the following requirements.

1. Complete INT 498 Senior Capstone Seminar and earn a grade of B or above
2. Complete INT 496 Honors Thesis in International Studies with their faculty mentor and earn a grade of B or above
3. Complete an Honors Thesis that is at least 50 pages in length, based on original research, and is approved by the International Studies Honors Committee
4. Present the thesis at the Celebration of Student Achievement

Most students will complete INT 498 in the Fall semester of their senior year, followed by INT 496 in the spring. However, students may petition to take INT 495 in the Fall, followed by INT 496 in the spring. In rare instances, the International Studies Honors Committee will consider applications to take both courses concurrently in INT497.

Eligibility

Honors in International Studies is open to majors who have:

1. Completed 20 credit hours (5 units) in coursework in International Studies, including no less than 12 hours (3 units) at The College. One of the completed courses must be INT 200.
2. Maintained an overall GPA of at least 3.5 at The College, as well as a GPA of at least 3.5 in courses counting toward the Major
3. Completed the study abroad requirement for the major by the end of their junior year

Final selection requires the approval of an Honors Thesis Advisor and the International Studies Core Committee. The number of students accepted is limited; the Program will select a small number of students each year based on the thesis application, past coursework, and perceived likelihood of the student successfully completing the thesis.

Application Process: All junior International Studies majors will be notified about the option to pursue Honors in International Studies by email from the Director of the International Studies Program. Interested students should identify a faculty member from the International Studies faculty to ask to serve as the Honors Thesis Advisor. Once the student has found a faculty member who has agreed to serve as the Honors Thesis Advisor, they should work with that person to develop a project proposal that will be part of the student's Application for Honors.

Applications from eligible students are due by April 1 of the student's junior year. Students who are studying abroad in the spring semester may request an extension from the Director of International Studies, if needed. The application should include the following:

1. A description of the proposed thesis topic and research design.
2. A preliminary bibliography
3. A project timeline
4. The names of the Honors Thesis Advisor and a faculty member who will serve as a second reader for the thesis. These two faculty, along with the Director of International Studies, will form the student's Honors Thesis Committee.

Students will be notified by May 1 if their application has been approved.

Review and Retention: Students must complete their Fall semester course (INT 498 or INT 495) with a grade of B in order to continue with the program in the spring semester. Final determination of Department Honors, if the above criteria are met, will be determined by majority vote of the students' Honors Thesis Committee.
